

Microsoft® Office SharePoint® Server: Core Organizational Benefits Defined

All companies have unique business requirements that necessitate specific solutions. Acting as a strategic partner, SMBology provides the expertise and knowledge needed to leverage SharePoint for your organization while augmenting your company's existing systems.

Contact Us

Justin Singer
President & CEO
jsinger@smbology.com
(713) 739-7774

Improve Content Management

Leave the guess work out of finding documents. Consolidate all organizational content from various file shares and user drives into a single document repository. Effectively manage, store and organize all business data from one central location.

Secure Intellectual Property

Define user access rights and permissions through SharePoint's customizable document management policies. Enable document checkout and version control to view document revisions and maintain content integrity.

Gain Business Insight

Make better informed decisions with easy access to vital company information. Create "live" business intelligence (BI) portals to collect and analyze real-time company data pulled and assembled from various sources and displayed via a central access point.

Search Powerfully

Reduce user frustration and search inefficiencies. SharePoint's enterprise search encompasses all business data and documents in addition to people and Web pages, increasing the relevancy of results.

Increase Business Productivity

Streamline business processes and procedures through the creation and use of workflows. Initiate, track, and define "next" steps for common business activities such as document review and approval. Integrate with other Microsoft applications, email or Web browsers to provide flexibility and enhance the user experience.

Collaborate Effectively

Facilitate teamwork, knowledge transfer and productivity. Collectively author, manage, and share documents, calendars, and other information among defined team members. Further connect users through people networks and virtual, collaborative workspaces.

SMBology, Inc. is a growth-oriented IT firm offering strategic consulting, user experience design, and custom application development. Clients benefit from our focus on easy-to-use technology, a deep understanding of the human user, and keen business acumen. This focus, paired with our deep technical expertise and broad service offering, enables us to take your company further than you ever imagined.

